NAMES

A. جلناز

G.

L. Balauſtia.

I. Balausta.

G. Granat-Blüte.

F. Balôte.

S.

D.

THE BALAUSTINE.

PLACE

Spain, and Italy, and other warm Countries, and in some Gardens in England.

DESCRIPTION.

This is the Flower of the wild Pomgranate-Tree. T
the Bark of a light greenish Colour; on the young Shoots 'tis Leaves are of a beautiful green, and very bright or shining, on inclining to yellow. The Flower-Cup 1, is strong and of a f something of a soft Waxlike Appearance. The Flower 2, has of Leaves; the Stalks or Ends of them are all fast to the Flower is of the Colour of the finest red Lead or Minium.
Fruit: 3, the Cup cut: 4, a Petal or Flower-Leaf.

VIRTUES.

These are drying and restringent, of use to stop an Blood.

T. Sheldrake delin.